Innovations Are Characteristic of New Administrator

Coming from Midland Schools in Wyoming, Iowa, Clayton Ridout became A. N. Busse's successor in the 1971-72 school year as superintendent of the M-F-L schools. Mr. Ridout brought a sense of change to M-F-L in his first year with new ideas and experiments. A few of the noticeable changes for the students were seven-period days as compared to the previous nine periods, athletic practices after school, and nine-week periods. These different changes in school structure were brought about with the idea of keeping M-F-L up to date, academically and otherwise, with the modern school.

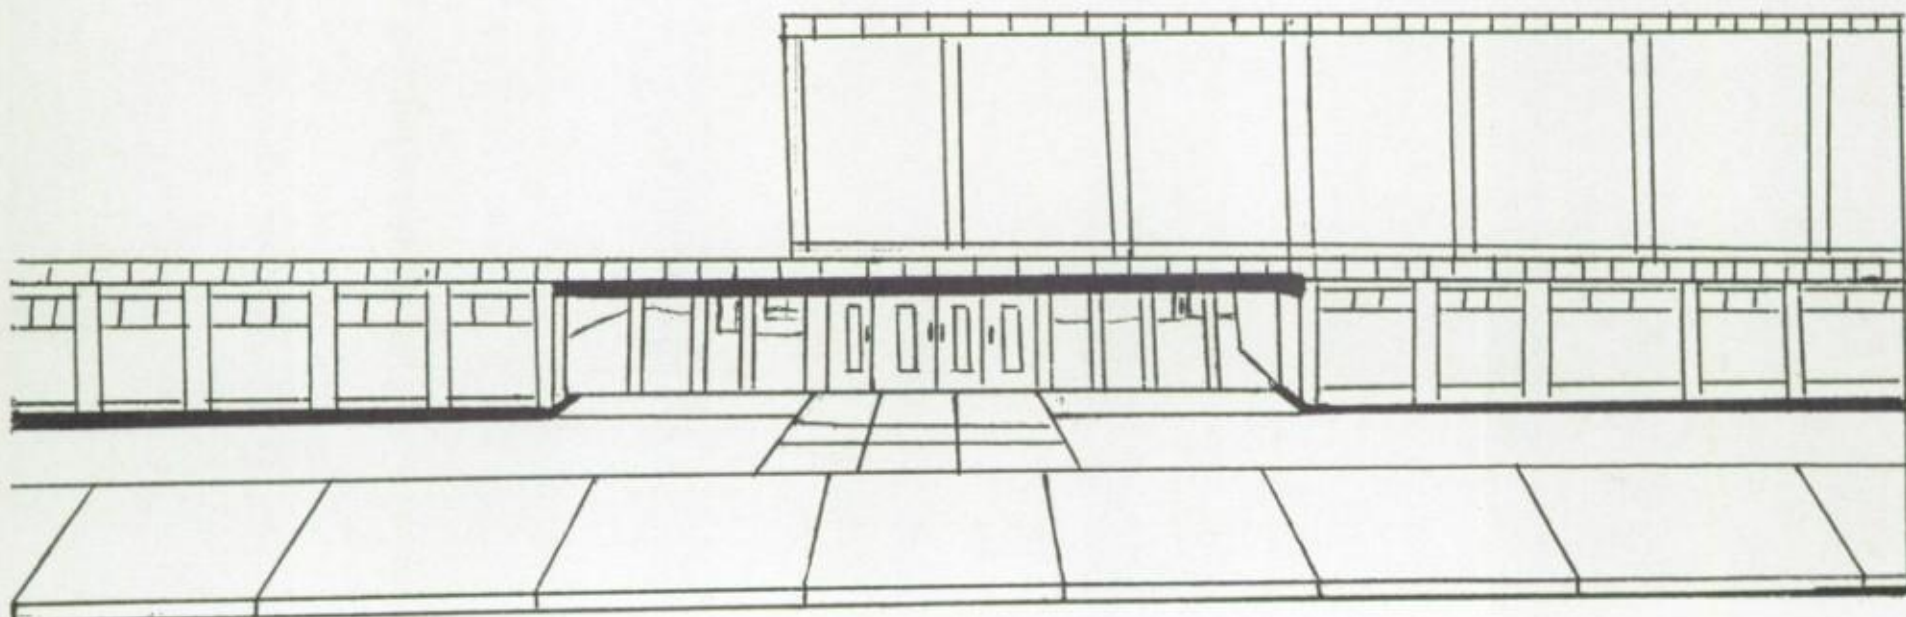

"I always wanted to be a teacher," said Mr. Ridout. After high school he attended Ellsworth College for two years and then completed his undergraduate work at Coe, where he received a B. A. degree. He then became a teacher, coach, and acting principal at Martelle, Iowa. After two years as acting principal, he then became principal for the next six years while carrying a full load as coach and teacher. In the meantime he received his Masters Degree for superintendency. He then spent the next 14 years as superintendent, all in Jones County, Iowa. In 1969, because of a change in administrative standards, he became an elementary principal for his last two years at Wyoming before coming to M-F-L.

The main problems of a high school superintendent running a school are financial, according to Mr. Ridout. Budgeting salaries of teachers, school upkeep, and many other expenses in a school's operation take much of the superintendent's time. With rising prices in every area of our economy, a school has to be careful to remain within budget limitations for the school and taxpayers.

Mr. Ridout is not afraid of change in the school system. In fact, he welcomes it if it helps a school progress in the right direction. There are many new ideas in the field of education being tossed around these days. Mr. Ridout considers them and if research has proven the value of a particular idea which would be applicable to M-F-L, it might well be adopted.

The satisfactions Mr. Ridout derives from being superintendent are many but the greatest one is watching a student succeed after his high school career. Whether the students go to college or start out in some business and do well, it shows the educational program set up has achieved its desired result.

These thoughts go hand in hand with Mr. Ridout's philosophy of education, "to educate all children and give them all the chance to succeed in school so they are prepared for their vocations or a college of their choice."

Assembly Programs Aid "Awareness"

CHANGE—the word sums up all the joys and sorrows of four years of high school. During those years the students change from bewildered freshmen to sophisticated seniors, from general math to trigonometry, from followers to leaders. Their personalities, interests, and viewpoints all change as they progress through each year.

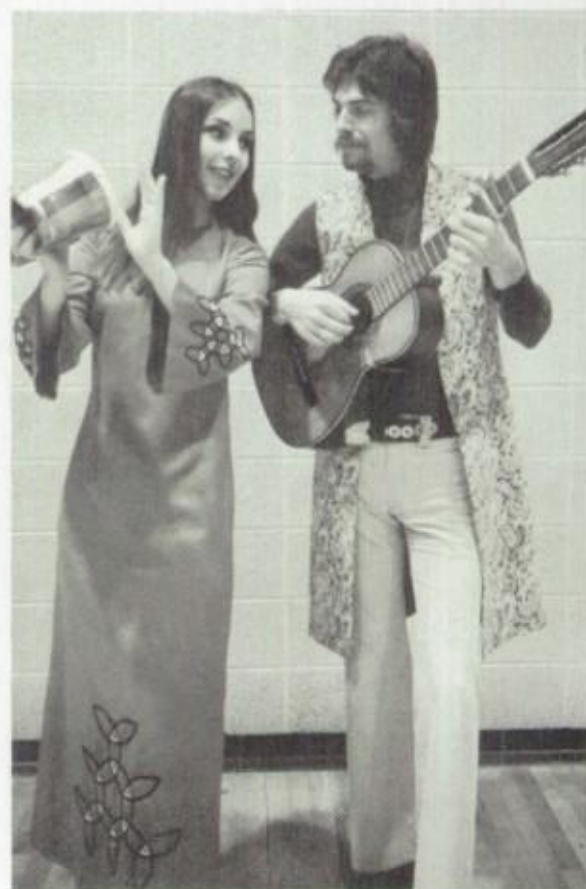

Various assembly programs aid the students in their growing "awareness." Black students from Wartburg spent a day at M-F-L, presenting a program in the morning, and holding class discussions in the afternoon.

Dr. William S. Blagen, Population Ecologist, also spoke to the senior class. Concerned about current problems, he gave his viewpoints on pollution and suggested ways to combat it.

A husband and wife singing team, the Moerman Duo, presented a program of folk songs from their native country of Holland.

Clayton County Social Worker Gerald Baldner discussed the effects of various drugs with the government classes.

Richard Pattison, an attorney from Monona, addressed the seniors on Law Day on the various aspects of criminal and civil law, and our responsibilities as citizens.

“We’ve Got The Spirit”

It is the cheerleaders responsibility to promote enthusiasm in the crowd for the team that is playing. Some of the most exciting moments for the cheerleaders and the spectators were when the football team and wrestlers received UIC championships and the basketball girls beat West Central. Good sportsmanship shown by the players and fans made the cheerleaders proud to support their teams.

Bulldogettes Swing Their Way to Success

Co-captains for the team were Peg Monroe and Chris Glawe.

Ending the season with a 6-5 record, the girls had two exciting victories over North and Elkader who have long been captors of victories over M-F-L. Although beaten out of the first round of sectional play, two girls made an Upper Iowa Conference Team. Deb Houg, made first team short-stop, and Peg Monroe made second team, left fielder.

Deb Houg, sophomore, and Lorna Landt, freshman, had the top batting averages of 484 and 500 respectively.

Bulldogs Are Undisputed Conference

The four seniors who served as captains of the winning team were Jason Klinge, Allyn Hagensick, Allen Miller, and Loren Lenth.

With a perfect 8-0 record, this year's football team won many honors, both as a team and as individuals. The Bulldogs were the undisputed champions of the Upper Iowa Conference for the first time since joining in 1969. In a dry run of the system to be used to pick the teams to compete in next year's state championship football tournament, the Bulldogs were selected as one of the four Class A teams from the entire state.

Jason Klinge, Larry Hook, Loren Lenth, Allen Miller, and Kevin Henning, were selected unanimously for first team all conference. In addition, Jason Klinge was named most valuable back. Seven other Bulldogs were also given honorable mention. Larry Hook was one of 37 players from eastern Iowa selected for the WMT High School Football Honor Roll. Larry was the only junior to receive this honor.

In individual season statistics, Jason Klinge led the team in three categories: scoring with 66 points, rushing with 918 yards, and intercepting with 5. Dennis Schultz was leading pass receiver with 198 yards. Jim Langholz, place kicker and lineman, kicked 31 points including field goals. Larry Hook led the Bulldogs tough "Doomsday Defense" with 99 tackles.

Ray Vangen, head coach, was assisted by Terry Heald, James Ernst, and Dave Sanger.

Joan Peters, Loren Lenth, Chris Glawe, Alan Landt, Wendy Russett, Rick Drahn, Rosi Sieg, Jason Klinge, Mary Nieland, and Rick Kirkeberg were selected by the student body for queen and king candidates from a ballot chosen by the senior class. Rosi Sieg was crowned queen by Allen Miller and Allyn Hagensick, two of the football captains, at the pep rally.

Happiness Is A VICTORY

Following an established tradition, the national anthem was sung as the Boy Scouts unfurled the flag before the game began. Then the football boys lunged through the Bulldog frame supported by the cheerleaders. Their victory over Sumner set a joyous mood for the dance where Jason Klinge was crowned king by Queen Rosi Sieg.

The presence of many alumni at the Homecoming celebration contributed to the success of the occasion, as the day's activities of September 24, 1971 came to a close.

Diamond Nine Takes Conference

The M-F-L boys' baseball team won the Upper Iowa Conference spring conference with a league record of 6-1. Their only loss was to North, whom they later beat to take the conference outright. M-F-L's overall record in the spring was a fine 11-3. Kee High defeated the Bulldogs in the sectional championship game 3-0.

Wrestlers Win Conference Tournament

Since wrestling was introduced at M-F-L in 1965, the best the Bulldogs had ever placed at a tournament was second. But this year they won the conference tournament, making them the Upper Iowa Conference Champs. In dual meets, they piled up an impressive 9-3 record.

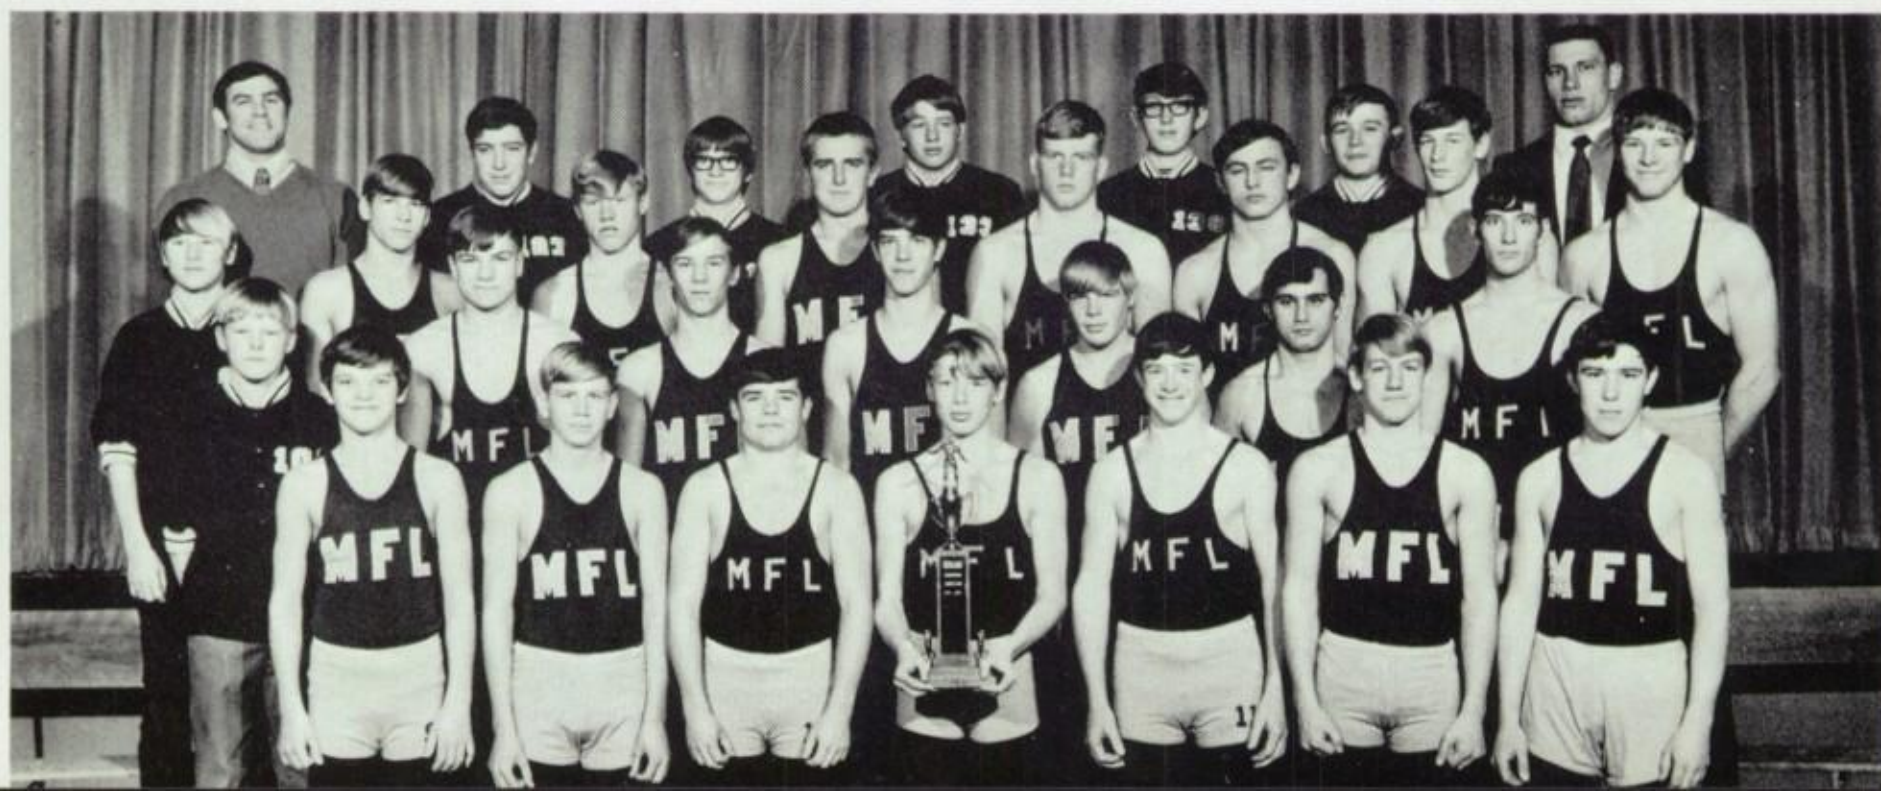

In individual statistics, Dale Echard led in 7 of 9 categories. Dale had 23 wins and only 3 losses the entire season and took third at district. Mike Walz also took third at district and had a 20-6 record.

Head Coach Dave Sanger, a former M-F-L wrestler, credits the five seniors, Alan Landt, Mike Walz, Jason Klinge, Bob Johanningmeier, and Jim Donlon, with leading the team. They had a combined season record of 71-20.

Both Dale Echard and Mike Walz were second in sectionals and went on to participate in district.

Cage Queens Conquer the Courts

After taking consolation at sectionals, the varsity girl's team was defeated in their first District competition, thus ending with a 20-5 record. One very bright spot in the season was the victory over No. 2 ranked West Central team.

Bringing recognition to M-F-L through their basketball skill were Deb Houg, Deb Kruse, and Chris Glawe. Honorable Mention was received by Deb Kruse in the IDPA poll and Deb Houg in the IDPA and Des Moines Register poll. Chris Glawe made third team all-state IDPA poll and fourth team in the Des Moines Register poll.

The team averaged 35 rebounds, 13 errors, and 68.6 points per game. High scorers for the season were Deb Houg with 711 and Deb Kruse with 665. Patti Fuelling, breaking the past record, snatched 214 rebounds and Chris Glawe followed with 155. With the team average of 20 interceptions per game, Chris Glawe had 131, Patti Fuelling had 124, and Peg Monroe had 101.

Concert Band Travels

The Concert Band was accepted to participate in the Manisphere Instrumental Band Competition held in Winnipeg, Canada on June 23, 24, and 25.

The band contest involved both concert and marching competition. All the bands also marched in a televised parade.

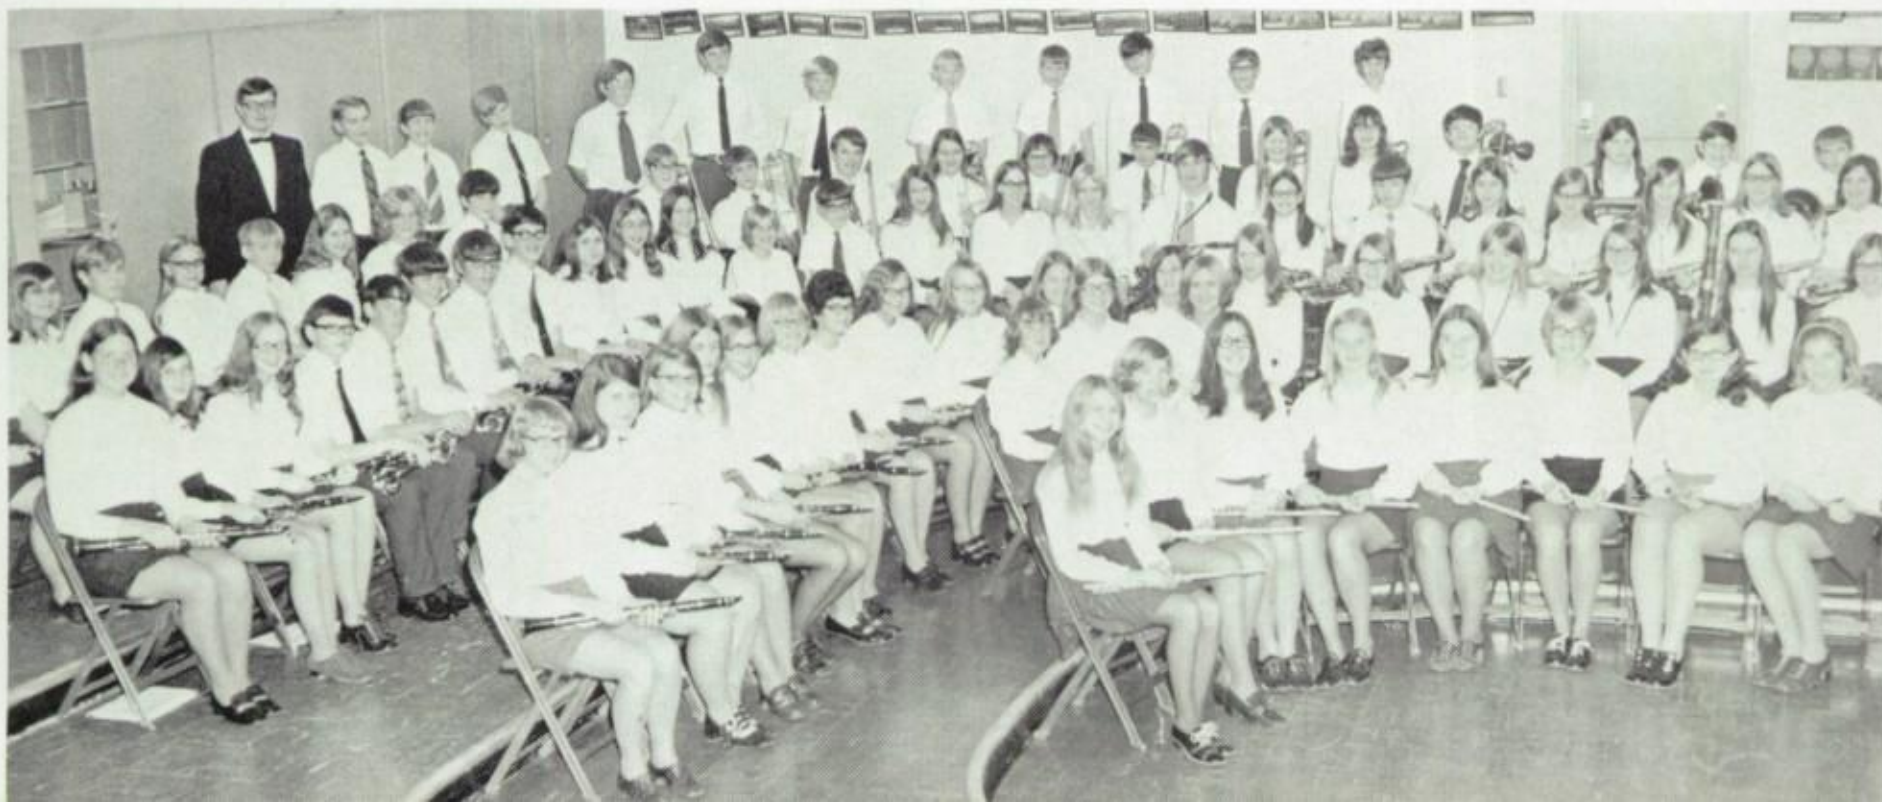

Preparing for the competition, band students were found both marching and raising funds. Many band activities were devoted to cutting the costs of the trip. Selling a cleaning product, giving bake sales, organizing a car wash, and serving a chili supper, kept the band students busy.

Students Receive I's at State

Words have wings and four students soared to win I's at state speech contest. By receiving I's at district contest they qualified to continue to state. Members of the play-reading group received a I rating at district large group contest.

In order to give speech students a chance to practice in front of an audience, a public recital was held preceding the district contest. To acquaint people with the lesser known divisions of speech, some students presented a program for the Woman's Club of Monona.

Key to the Doors Of Fashion

The theme was Key to the Doors of Fashion for the 1972 Home Economics Style Show held on March 28. Fashions of all styles and types were modeled, including casual and dressy spring and fall costumes. Narrators for the show were Deb Rothmeyer and LeAndra Landt.

A masculine touch was added to the style show when Kevin Gramlich, Jason Klinge, Alan Landt, Loren Lenth, Tom McCune, and Rick Kirkeberg wore ties made by the home economics girls to complement their casual attire. Another unusual project, decoupage, undertaken during the year, was exhibited in the lobby after the show. Door prizes of decoupage and ties were given to holders of lucky numbers. Both refreshments and door prizes were made by the home economics girls.

The style show was under the direction of Miss Jan Renes, home economics teachers.

Theme of Annual Reveals Student Life

When planning the annual, a theme is selected to portray student life at M-F-L. Consequently, the pictures and copy should co-ordinate with the theme to reveal the school year as our students have lived it.

Changes in personnel, class periods, and curriculum were the dominant changes for this year.

Winning four conference championships and succeeding in other extra-curricular activities contributed to a successful year for the students.

"Athlete of the Week" Is New Feature

Each year the BULLDOG GROWL staff tries to include a new feature in its news stories. The Athlete of the Week was the special addition this year. Each coach of a participating sport nominated a player to be recognized for his ability displayed during the week. From his comments the other coaches and sportswriters of the BULLDOG GROWL selected one who was most deserving of the honor.

Learning to Grow

Being more than just a pre-professional organization has been one of the goals of FTA this year. The state-wide theme was "New Directions" and was carried out through a variety of new programs.

To promote teamwork and responsibility among the members, the FTA undertook the job of managing a coat check at the home basketball games. Proceeds from this activity financed the trip to the annual State Convention in Ames.

Many of the members were successful in their bids for office. Mary Doom was elected district president and therefore became sub-district president. Chris Ridout was voted sub-district secretary. Although defeated on the state level, Deb Rothmeyer had the opportunity to run for state first vice-president.

Character, leadership, scholarship, and service are the symbols of the National Honor Society, and these qualities are the basis on which students are chosen to be members.

During the ceremony on March 24, each inductee presented either a speech or a musical number. Terry Knockel sang "Art Thou Troubled" and "This is the Song of My Life". Janelle Lamker played two saxophone numbers. Peg James began the presentation with a definition of the National Honor Society emblem. Other speeches given were: Rosi Sieg—Leadership, Noreen Lamborn—Scholarship, LeAnn Klinkenberg—Service, and Chris Ridout—Character.

“Love American Style”

“Love American Style” was the theme for the Jr.-Sr. Prom held on April 28 in the Luana gym. Decorations in red, white, and blue provided a colorful setting for the occasion.

The money that was formerly spent for a banquet was used instead to obtain an outstanding band, The Pages. Six waiters and waitresses, chosen by the junior class, served at a buffet table during the dance.

WAITERS AND WAITRESSES: Linda Goettler, Bill Christofferson, Renea Kirkeberg, Mick Krambeer, Deb Houg, and Greg James.

Seniors Leave Legacy Of Leadership, Scholarship, and Friendship

At last the first major goal has been reached. Dreams are becoming a reality. As yet, there have been no other experiences to compare to this. Until this moment life has consisted of getting an education.

Now is the opportunity to accept the responsibility which our generation has so fervently desired. As our commencement speaker said, "If necessary, will you have the courage to stand alone?"

Complying with the requirement that the senior class must have Class Night in order to have their numerals on the robe, the '72 Class presented a talent show on May 9.

Loren Lenth, president of the Class of '72, passed the robe to Mike Hemesath, president of the class of '73.

Physical education is also a major part of the high school curriculum. Everyone looked forward to jumping on the trampoline in P.E. Trying a new technique, Mary Nieland placed her feet on the backs of Mary Welch and Deb Buerger. When she jumped, Deb and Mary would go up in the air with her and would also land on the trampoline at the same time.

What You Always Wanted to Know About the Class of '72*

Because their performance was so well received at the Variety Show, the Lemon Sisters repeated their skit on May 9 when the Seniors presented their Class Night before a capacity crowd.

Some of the other acts were: Swing Chorus, Yankee Doodle Dandies, Puppy Love, and Instant Love. After the final closing strains of "Applause, Applause," Class Night of '72 became another memory.

Baccalaureate Inspires

Sunday evening, May 14, marked another step for the Class of '72. The invocation, scripture and benediction were given by Pastor John Mohr. Pastor Raymond Pacholke delivered the sermon, "Tomorrow: Fate or Faith."

The High School Mixed Chorus sang "How Excellent Is Their Name." The Woodwind Quintet played "Allegro from Classical Quintet." The Processional and Recessional for both ceremonies was played by Tom James at the organ.

Commencement Challenges

At Commencement ceremonies on May 18, Pastor Langholz gave the invocation and benediction. David Stanley, former state representative, spoke on the topic "The Courage to Stand Alone." Clyde Thompson, president of the School Board, presented the diplomas to the seniors as Principal Derald Swisher read the roll.

Music was provided by the combined girls and boys glee clubs and a saxophone quartet consisting of Janelle Lamker, Sheryl Schlein, Chris Fascher, and Debbie Schrader.

School Board and Administration Determine Policies

Diversified Board Provides Balance for Decisions

Cooperating with Superintendent Ridout, the M-F-L's Board of Education makes the major decisions concerning the school's future. With so many things changing in the 70's, the school has made many modifications to adjust to the times.

M-F-L's Board of Education, a combination of young men with fresh, untried ideas and experienced men with proven theories is responsible for the turn our school will take in the next few years.

The goal of the School Board has always been the same: to furnish the students of M-F-L an education for a career or for further academic training. The Board works diligently throughout the school year in accomplishing this goal. All things recommended to and approved by Mr. Ridout must be passed by the Board before it goes into effect.

The newest member is LaVern Landt of Luana, who was elected to the Board in the fall of 1971. Others are George Heins, who has served a total of 28 years, 25 of them as secretary of the Board. Meanwhile, Clyde Thompson, in his fourth year on the Board, is also in his second year as president. Mr. Thompson is in charge of monthly meetings and this past year called many special meetings concerning immediate problems and decisions which had to be made. William Schlein, also provides experience with his fourteen years of service. Other members and their years on the Board include Don Huinker, and Jerome Schultz, each with two years. Mr. James Burger has served as treasurer for two years, also.

These dedicated men serve without pay.

Faculty Unite For Common Goal

"The very best educational opportunities for our students" is the common goal of the M-F-L faculty.

To accomplish this worthy purpose, the M-F-L Education Association was formally organized a few years ago. Officers who directed the activities of the group during the 71-72 school year were Fremont Ogle, President; Walter Begalske, President-elect; Bonnie James, Secretary; Margery Wachter, Treasurer; Harold James, Delegate to the ISEA Delegate Assembly, and Oswald Goettler, Alternate Delegate.

At least once a month members of the M-F-L EA met to discuss relevant problems and policies. In addition to the regular business meeting, a program of current interest was presented. Walter Galvin, state ISEA President, spoke to the group at the September meeting. It was the first time a state president had addressed the local association.

State Representative Dale Tieden was guest speaker at a dinner meeting in October. He informed the group that Iowa ranks high in education appropriations, nationally. Teachers were encouraged to be aware of problems concerning education at the state level as well as on the local level.

National Education Week, October 24-30, was observed by Open House in both elementary and secondary grades. Parents of junior and senior high school were especially invited to attend classes and 117 persons observed the M-F-L students in their classes.

Harold James related the actions taken by the ISEA Delegate Assembly held at Sioux City in February. Reports by committee chairmen provided part of the programs for the remainder of the year.

Two speakers, Walter Galvin, State ISEA President, and

Dale Tieden, State Representative, brought educational and political impressions to the faculty.

German visitors impressed with America.

New Teacher Joins High School Faculty

Mr. James Harris was the only new teacher to join the high school faculty this year. After graduating from Upper Iowa college, he taught three years at Calamus and one year at Earlham. He coached girls basketball at both schools. It is also one of his assignments at M-F-L. He believes that the greatest benefit from participating in sports is learning to get along with others and sacrificing one's personal gain for the success of the team.

He is married and has a son named Chad.

M—F—L Has Visitors From Germany

"Education without frills is typical of schools in Germany," according to Karl Heinz Bonnholf and Claus Hachmann. College entrance examinations are very difficult and are taken over a period of three weeks. Consequently, only the intellectuals have the opportunity of advanced instruction.

During their stay with Claus's great aunt, Mrs. Mangels, they talked to the German class and the vocational agriculture classes.

Since both men are farmers, they were impressed with the training the future farmers receive at M-F-L. The biggest difference in agriculture between America and Germany is the size of the farms. While farms in Germany are small, they are neat in appearance because of the many clipped hedges and huge flower gardens.

They left Monona with the comment that they will always remember vast and pleasant America.

Variety Lends Interest To Teachers' Routines

Terry Heald, Mathematics, Head Baseball Coach, Assistant Football Coach, and Junior Varsity Boys Basketball Coach; Thomas James, Instrumental Music and High School Band; Marian Kruse, Business education and School Publications; Helen Martin, Junior English and Senior High Librarian; James Middendorf, Government and Drivers Education; Fremont Ogle, Jr. High and High School Vocal Music; Janice Renes, Home Economics; John Roys, Industrial Arts, Agriculture; David Sanger, Mathematics, Assistant Football Coach, and Head Wrestling Coach; Rose Turner, German; Raymond Vangen, Science, Assistant Boys Track Coach, and Head Football Coach; John Wachter, Agriculture and FFA Sponsor.

"All Is Not Work"

Holidays have a happy connotation. Santa got an early start on his rounds this year by appearing at the faculty Christmas party held on December 20. A program of music and an exchange of gifts added to an enjoyable evening.

To show in some small tangible way the gratitude for Carla's calm approach to the many pressing duties as the school secretary, a surprise pink and blue shower was held for her in January.

Rain or shine, faculty members and their families enjoy a breakfast following the last day of the school year.

Three months of vacation slip by with many teachers attending summer school, traveling, or just enjoying Iowa's pleasant weather. Then in the fall, a new school year is launched with a faculty-family picnic.

"Silver Bells" is sung by Santa's Serenaders.

After serving as school secretary for over four years, Mrs. Carla Burger exchanged the hum of a typewriter for the tune of a lullaby.

Mrs. Velma Kuehl and Mrs. Darlene Russett assumed the secretarial duties of Mrs. Burger.

School Nurse Stresses Good Health Habits

Studies have shown that a healthy, happy child does better than one who is not. Of special concern to Mrs. Christofferson, the school nurse, is the physical well-being of the children of M-F-L.

In the fall, Clayton County was one of nine selected for a pilot heart testing program and 65 third graders were checked for any heart deficiencies.

Dental hygiene was emphasized with correct tooth brushing techniques. Children soon became acquainted with the slogan "Happiness Is A Healthy Mouth."

The sixth graders did research on the harmful effects of smoking cigarettes. As a result of this study, these students felt a personal responsibility for improving and safeguarding everyone's health.

Freshmen Make Their

Singing selections "Close to You" and "It's a Long Road to Freedom", the thirty girls in the Freshmen Glee Club contributed their musical talent to the Variety Show. Tracy Halvorson, Sheila Fuelling, and Linda Schmelzer accompanied the girls on their guitars while Mr. Ogle accompanied them on the piano.

There is always a girls dance line in the Variety Show, but the freshman girls went one step farther and organized their own dance line. They danced to the song, "Sweet Hitchhiker".

Putting song and dance together, were the Keebler Cookie Girls. They were Kimberly Little, Cindy Kurdelmeyer, Nancy Grady, and Tracy Halvorson. They sang the theme song from the Keebler Cookie Commercial and made up the dance step themselves.

Debut at M-F-L

When the freshmen came to school in August only to find a new seven period schedule, some confusion and adjustment was the result. By the end of the day, however, it seemed like an old routine.

Three new students were added to the class. Linda Amundson, from Postville, Jeanne Baumgartner, from Waukon, and Tim Simmons, from Minnesota.

It is always an honor to earn a letter or award in some extracurricular activity but it is an outstanding accomplishment, for a freshman. Those who qualified were John Wagner in baseball; Paul Neuhaus, John Lee, and Greg Hagensick in wrestling; Linda Lembke, Pauline Lestina, LeAndra Landt, and Cindy Kurdelmeyer in girls track. Six freshmen were initiated into FTA; Tracy Halvorson, Susan Turner, Mark Peters, Lynn Meyer, LeAndra Landt, and Cindy Kurdelmeyer.

In relation to the Child Care and Development Chapter in Home Economics, the girls each brought a child and they had a picnic in the City Park.

Maria Fonseca, a former exchange student, sent the school several pictures drawn by a Brazilian artist. This exhibit was displayed in the library for some time so all the students could enjoy them.

Since the last days of school were extremely hot, the attire of the students was very casual. Finding a cool place, David Schultz does some last minute cramming for semester tests.

Sixth Graders Get a Glimpse Of Junior High

What is so different about Jr. High? On Monday, May 15, the sixth graders from Luana found out. They were given a tour of the facilities they will use next fall. Just being able to locate the right classroom gives a feeling of confidence to a student in a strange building. In addition to the orientation to the new surroundings, they were given suggestions on using their study hall periods wisely.

A program by the sixth grade band, the Cadet band, and the eighth grade mixed chorus completed the afternoon for students and their parents.

Sixth Graders Study Unit on Cigarette Smoking

"You, the smoking machine, can die from nicotine" is one of the slogans which the Luana sixth graders used on posters after doing some research on cigarette smoking.

Topics were presented to all the grades in Luana. They were as follows: 1. Effect on the Body. 2. Diseases related to smoking. 3. Poisons found in cigarettes. 4. Cost of smoking.

At the conclusion of the study, three observations were noted: 1. Accept personal responsibility for improving and safeguarding one's health. 2. The young person needs medical and statistical facts. 3. Realize the decision is yours. No one can keep you from smoking but neither can anyone force you to smoke. It is a decision that is yours alone, and it may affect your entire life.

First Grade Introduced to Phonics

One achievement on the road to reading for the first graders this year was learning that letters and combinations of letters make certain sounds. For fun and education they baked gingerbread cake in honor of George Washington's birthday. Another activity was the making of papier-mache. Marcia Carroll, who participated in an interim program from Upper Iowa College, helped supervise the project. On Valentine's Day the first graders constructed a mail box in which they mailed their valentines to classmates.

Pleasant surroundings enhance learning and Mrs. Kruse begins a colorful bulletin board.

Posters of vowel sounds help Mrs. Augustine with her remedial teaching.

Learning and Fun Go Hand in Hand

Because good students are good readers every effort is made to enable each boy and girl in our school system to achieve this ability.

Through the use of the master language machine, miniature tape recorder, and overhead projector, Mrs. Mary Augustine and Mrs. Frances Kruse reinforce the instruction pupils have had in their regular classes.

Mrs. Kruse, who worked with children from grades one through four, emphasized vowel sounds by playing games on the overhead projector. Her students also worked on recognizing rhyming words. Stories, mainly about animals were written by the children to encourage the use of encyclopedias.

Pretending is fun, and Mrs. Augustine's students made puppets and wrote puppet plays this year. She assists second to sixth grades in Luana and has a regular sixth grade and second grade group. Creative language, poems, stories, and illustrations and posters acted as visual aids to increase knowledge and understanding of vowel sounds.

Mrs. Evans finds the use of music charts helpful and enjoyable in teaching elementary students.

Mrs. Florence Evans brings an interlude of relaxation and enjoyment to the grade school children with an introduction to the basic appreciation of music.

Rhythm sticks, an autoharp, triangle, and drums help the children get the beat of the music. In first, second, and third grades this year, Mrs. Evans used music charts which assisted in teaching the students rhythm and note reading. These effective charts proved to be very successful, and as a result, Mrs. Evans is expanding their use to the fourth, fifth, and sixth grades in the coming year.

Through four years of high school we worked, we played, we laughed, we cried. Now all that is left are the memories.

In Reminiscence

Fun and frolics, laughter and tears.
These were part of our high school years.

All of these, and yet so much more,
Friendship, trust, and memories to store.

Looking back at the years we shared,
We'll never forget the ones who cared.
Teachers, coaches, life-long friends,
The help we've received knows no end.

But now our time is almost through.
The years are gone—they simply flew!
It's almost time to be on our own.
High school is over, our way has been shown.

So just this once before we go,
We'd like to make sure that all of you know
We'll never forget our high school years,
The fun and frolics, the laughter and tears.

Farewell from the Seniors

Joint Effort Is Acknowledged in Producing '72 BULLDOG

Members of School Publication Staff Arrive at End of Trail at Pike's Peak

Without a staff, a yearbook would be out of the question. Yet, there are many other people, who in some measure, contribute their share of help in producing THE BULLDOG.

June Johnson and Noreen Lamborn assumed the responsibility of putting the book together. Other members on the staff aided them by planning the pages, writing the copy, and pasting the pictures on the mats. Since an annual is a pictorial history of a school year, much credit must be given to the photographers. Patty Ferguson, not only took many pictures, but developed and printed them, too. Mr. Gerald Carroll took all the individual pictures and group pictures. The distinctive aerial view of the M-F-L campus used on the title page was donated by Mr. Jackson Turner.

Typing the copy must be accurate and Judy Echard, Marsha Elsbury, Lois Friedlein, and other typing students gave helpful assistance in this area.

Scott Monserud and Rodney Torkelson provided the staff with some well-written copy. Linda Goettler designed many of the grade pages and Michelle Baade helped on activity pages.

This is the largest BULLDOG ever published, and it was possible to have these extra pages through the efforts of the business staff under the direction of Mr. Ronald Fullhart. Rose Sieg, manager, and Patty Ferguson, assistant manager, and their salesmen sold 112 ads including five picture ads.

Perhaps the most noticeable change of all is the individual pictures of each student from kindergarten through the senior class.

The cooperation of the faculty in making adjustments from the regular classroom routine to accommodate picture-taking for the Annual is deeply appreciated.

The Annual staff is indebted to Mrs. Kruse, adviser, for her time and assistance.

Mr. Bucky Solberg, representative of the INTER-COLLEGIATE PRESS, was willing to assist us whenever he was needed.

The 1972 BULLDOG

Is a 96-page, 420 issue volume in its thirty-second year of printing. Headlines are set in 18, 24, 30, and 36 Bodoni Bold Italic Clc style. Type for body and identification composition is 10 point. Paper for the test is 80-pound enamel. The cover is Deluxe 87 silk screen with peacock blue vellum liner. Cover, composition, presswork and binding are by INTER-COLLEGIATE PRESS, Shawnee Mission, Kansas.

Mr. Carroll checks equipment.

Patty can drive, too!
